Second Dance Carnival Given for Charity at Paul Smith's and Mrs. H. L. Pratt to Entertain Party of Friends at Their Camp.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PAUL SMITH, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The wireless telephone as an adjunct to camp life in the Adirondacks will have its first tryout in some of the camps on the St. Regis Chain of Lakes next season.

A second dance carnival was held to-night in the Club at Paul Smith's Hotel. At last Saturday's event winners of the waltz contest were Mrs. Harrison Carter and Frederick Schaeffer of Philadelphia, both members of the party. Mrs. Carter, of Hephurnwood, Mrs. J. Goldstone of New York and Walter A. Ruker of Montreal were winners of the fox trot. Morgan J. O'Brien, David Wagstaff and P. H. Taylor, who have been guests of Edward F. Hutton at Camp Hutton, have returned to New York. Mr. Hutton also has been called back by business. Mrs. Hutton is, however, remaining in camp for several weeks longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lee Pratt, who are remaining late in camp, will shortly be joined by a large party of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, who have been on a short visit with friends at Martinsburg, Ind., returned this week to their camp on the Upper St. Regis Lake. Mr. Whitely Reid, who will keep Camp Wildair open during September, has been joined there by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ogden Reid. Mrs. Reid is also entertaining Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson of Red Bank.

Mrs. Francis H. Slade of New York and Englewood is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Louis Slade at their Upper St. Regis camp.

Mrs. Sidney Drew is entertaining at her camp on the Upper St. Regis River and Mrs. A. J. Frazer of Rye and D. M. Cooper of New York.

A dinner and dance was given at Camp Elsinor by Mrs. E. H. Coats of Philadelphia on Thursday evening for her niece Miss Alice Trask of Philadelphia. It was attended by about fifty young persons from the camps on the lakes.

Among the early September events are several camp teas to be given for Miss Eunice James, who has joined her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. James of Glen Cove, at camp after eight months in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, who have leased the Kirby camp on Chateaugay Lake for the remainder of the season, are accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Biddle Duke.

Miss R. A. Folhemus of New York, who this season did not open her camp on Spitz Lake, is at Paul Smith's for several weeks with Miss A. E. Laing of New York. Miss Nellie F. Turner has joined her mother, Mrs. L. F. Turner, for early September at the hotel.

Mrs. H. L. Pratt and Miss Irene McDougall of New York have returned there for September.

C. A. Pugsley of New York, formerly president of the New York State Yacht Club Association, en route to the White Mountains has been spending several days at Paul Smith's with Mrs. Pugsley, Miss Alice Applegate and C. de Witt Pugsley of New York.

Dr. John J. White and family of New York have returned to New York.

Arrivals at Paul Smith's include Mr. and Mrs. Clark Williams, James Riley, E. I. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Bromley, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gooch, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGowan, Mrs. John K. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Muir, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. David Granger, David Granger, Jr., James Davey, Edgar J. Kohler, Theodore B. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Mills, C. Morrissey, M. Morris, James F. Power, Cornelius Conrad, Frank Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. S. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McIntire, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Flannery, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kemple, Mrs. Whitney Conant, Mrs. Lucia J. Darling, Mrs. Charles H. Paine, Miss Mary E. Paine, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. D. Black, Mrs. Robert C. Black, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cory, Mr. and Mrs. Lefroy G. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. W. Melvin White, Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry Hoyt of New York.

Bridge and Tea for Charity at Upper Saranac Event Held in Aid of Trudeau Sanatorium—Notes of the Camps.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. UPPER SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 3.—What proved the gala event of the season on the Upper Saranac Lake was the bridge tea and sale held Thursday in the Casino at Saranac Inn, at which a large sum was realized for the benefit of the Trudeau Sanatorium at Saranac Lake, founded by the late Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau.

The committee in charge of the event was headed by Mrs. Howard Bucknell of Atlanta, Ga., for Saranac Inn; Mrs. Walter B. James of Glen Cove for Paul Smith's; Mrs. S. W. Douglas, New York, for Bartlett's Inn; Mrs. E. T. Comfort, New York, for Corey's, and Mrs. Alma Thatch, New York, for Lake Clear.

At the candy booth were Mrs. J. R. Sheffield, Mrs. Robert Tilney, Mrs. C. C. Marshall, Miss George, New York; Mrs. S. M. Colgate and the Misses Doherty, East Orange; Mrs. Robert Bentley, Youngstown, Ohio; Miss Carol Smith, Mrs. Stacey Lloyd, Miss Ellen Lloyd Douglas, Philadelphia.

In charge of the sale of homemade cakes were Mrs. William Goodman, Mrs. C. H. Krumbach, Mrs. H. G. Lloyd, Mrs. Russell Thayer, Mrs. Francis Packard, Mrs. Thayer, Philadelphia; Mrs. Henry Graves, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Severance, New York.

Ice cream was served by Mrs. S. P. Howe, Merchantville, N. J.; Mrs. William Wherry, Mrs. Philip King, Mrs. E. B. New York; Mrs. F. L. MacBeth, Pittsburgh; Miss Alice Richardson, Albany.

At the Tea Tables.

At the tea tables were Mrs. William Linton Landreth, Mrs. Alexander Dixon, Miss Lloyd, Philadelphia; Mrs. Thomas Blagden, Washington; Mrs. Alexis du Pont Smith, Mrs. E. T. Comfort, Miss Crawford, New York; Mrs. Leonard Richardson, Albany.

The committee on tables and tickets included Mrs. J. E. Aberts, Mrs. T. C. Coleman, Mrs. New York, Golden, Donaldson, Miss Reid, Washington; Mrs. Howard Witherell, Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Philadelphia; Mrs. T. D. Arty, Lucas, Mrs. Theodore Jones, New York; Mrs. William A. Douglas, Mrs. A. M. Hancock, Mrs. R. B. Stanley, Mrs. H. J. George, Mrs. Henry Heide, Jr., Mrs. Alma Thatch, New York; Mrs. C. A. Plummer, New Bedford, Mass.; Mrs. Gretchen Wherry, Mrs. Marie Lindemeyer and Miss Helen Hackett, New York; Mrs. E. H. Humphries, Philadelphia, dressed in fancy costumes, were in charge of the fish pond, the grab-bags and the games, which proved sources of delight to the little people.

Miss Constance Howe of Merchantville, N. J., and Miss Sue Bucknell of Atlanta, Ga., dressed as Spanish beauties, peddled cigars and cigarettes. W. C. Freeman of Philadelphia raffled two beautiful paintings of Adirondack scenes donated by the artist, Dorotha Johnson of New York. Miss Clara Lewis of Philadelphia raffled a boudoir pillow.

The Countess Pocorini, Miss Jane Gooch, Philadelphia, and Mrs. J. E. Ighart, Baltimore, raffled a silk wig, and Miss Eleanor Mills, Washington, and Miss Driver, Norfolk, raffled a boudoir pillow.

Also in aid of Trudeau Sanatorium is the rummage sale, taking place in the Casino at Saranac Inn this afternoon under the direction of a committee of women headed by Mrs. Fraser Harris of Philadelphia.

E. V. Z. Lane of New York, who is remaining late at his camp on the Upper Saranac, is one of the most enthusiastic of the fishermen on the lake, catching his full quota each morning before breakfast, established an August record when he took the week's catch in a lake trout weighing fourteen and three-quarter pounds.

John G. Aar, S. A. Swenson and E. J. Sweeney, all of New York, with their families at their respective camps, are among the sojourners who have made arrangements to remain late this season.

Sidney M. Colgate of New York and East Orange will keep his camp open late into September.

Gives Dinner for Fifty Friends.

Among the dinner parties at Saranac Inn was that given by Miss Eleanor Mills for about fifty friends.

Meredith Wood of New York, a member of the famous "Red Battalion," is the guest of Dr. J. E. Moore of New York at the Inn.

Dr. R. H. McConnell of New York, who was decorated for his world war service with the Legion of Honor cross by Gen. Viviani on the occasion of the latter's recent visit to this country, is with Mrs. McConnell at Saranac Inn.

Walter Johnson of New York has joined Mrs. Johnson and his family at Saranac Inn. They are entertaining her brother, Dr. Earle Royer of New York.

New York have as their guests at the Inn Mr. and Mrs. Wallin Murphy of Garden City.

Harvest Ball for Point Pleasant Beach.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. POINT PLEASANT BEACH, N. J., Sept. 3.—At the Leighton Hotel the harvest ball, always one of the principal events on the summer social calendar, is to take place on Monday night, and it is expected that hundreds will attend from the estate section. A concert will be held at the Pine Bluff Inn to-night, followed by a ball, in which cottagers of the river front section joined with the hotel party.

The final regatta of the season is to be held over the course of the Manasquan River Yacht Club at Brielle on Labor Day, and many Point Pleasant residents of the river shore section will enter their boats in the events on that day. The event will be celebrated at night with a dance at the clubhouse.

More than fifty players are entered in the municipal tennis tournament, which was started this week on the borough courts in the public park. The matches will be continued until the second week in September, when the final rounds are to be played.

High Prices Serve to Fill Deauville With Americans

Stupendous Tariffs Only Make Prospective Guests More Anxious to Get In—Many Well Known New York Residents at French Resort.

Special Correspondence to THE NEW YORK HERALD. By MAY BIRKHEAD.

DEAUVILLE, Aug. 18. (Herald.)—Deauville and Touquet are apparently running a close race for popularity among the fashionable French seaside resorts, which means that each is trying to outdo the other in high prices. When the Deauville visitors complain that prices are too high the hotel keepers invariably respond that Le Touquet prices are higher, and vice versa. The consequence is that the week end visitors from each resort are constantly exchanging places to see for themselves if one is really more expensive than the other. Thus the pursuit of high prices has grown to be a sport and almost a mania among the foreign visitors. It seems that as soon as a resort acquires the reputation of being the most expensive spot on the Continent, the whole world comes there, in order to complain about it.

Deauville, however, is apparently undisturbed by the discussions as to whether its growing commercial aspect and high prices will kill it before the season is over. It seems to be assured that the beauties of La Plage Fleurie are such that it will continue to draw the elite of the world, and it figures that there are "kickers" to be found everywhere and under all circumstances, so why should Deauville be disturbed by such small matters as complaints?

If Americans write to the hotels and ask the price of rooms for the next week they usually receive the response that the hotel is filled by permanent visitors who expect to remain for the entire month, but they can have a room for 300 francs a day unless they will agree to stay for the season. If they will take the room for three weeks they can have it at as reasonable a price as 150 francs a day on the sea front and 80 francs a day for the back rooms on the street.

This naturally arouses a curiosity about the place, and tourists, especially Americans who are fond of wire pulling, go about finding an influential friend who can persuade the Deauville hotel keeper to produce a room from some unknown source and compromise on the price. By the time a week is spent in wire pulling back and forth the curiosity of the American has grown so keen that he is willing to pay any price for a room.

The consequence is that rooms are being engaged almost by the minute instead of by the day, and after a few minutes the guest is told that Deauville has grown so very popular that he must get out because his room has been previously engaged, so off he goes to Le Touquet to look for higher prices.

There is no doubt that prices are high at all the resorts, but as far as Deauville is concerned there is much in knowing how to manage. The hotel keepers all explain that prices are necessary high because the season is so short, and the week has heretofore been the Deauville high season, and during that period it has been the Assumption Day holiday on August 15 that has drawn the enormous crowds. The Grand Prix de Deauville is as popular a race as the Grand Prix de Paris, and as it always has been run on August 15 the combination of the holiday and the race has caused all eyes to turn to Deauville. The high prices of last year more than doubled for that one holiday, and the visitor who was late in deciding to come to Normandy was lucky if he could find a billiard table for 200 francs for the night.

Races Are Disappointing.

So far the races have been disappointing from every angle. The heat and the drought has made the ground too hard for the sport to be of first class, and there has been a lack of interest and animation which has always characterized the Deauville race course. Despite all of the apparent success with the hotel turning them away by the hundreds, under the surface the season is more or less of a drag. It is no fault of Deauville but is the spirit that is found everywhere.

In the old days when eccentric costumes appeared they had a following of thousands and photographers snapping right and left, but now freakish costumes go unnoticed. A girl appeared with a pet monkey on a string; another with a parrot on her shoulder and not a head turned to take a second glance. So far there has been nothing new to be seen in the way of fashions. The summer dresses look pretty at the races and are an important factor in the color scheme, but there has been nothing out of the ordinary to be seen unless it was a girl with hoop earrings which were being perched on her shoulders instead of being fastened to her ears. They were a hoop within a hoop made of thin gold wire; each hoop was about three inches in diameter, and then there was a long gold tassel hanging on the second hoop.

The costumes at the Casino have not been as elegant as usual, but with the Grand Prix week approaching the worst is probably yet to come. The longer and fuller the dresses the more they are shown at the winter fashion shows in Paris are gradually taking their hold, so there is no longer any doubt about their being accepted if Deauville is any criterion.

Friars to Give Pine Pillows to Soldiers.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The Friars Club of New York will cooperate with the Saranac Lake Girls Club in bringing to the soldiers the aroma of the Adirondacks. John Gleason, formerly Abbot of the Friars Club has been the guest of William Morris of New York at the latter's Camp Intermission of Lake Colby, and after a visit to the Little Window, the new craft shop of the Girls Club he gave an order for as many pine pillows as the club can turn out. These are to be turned over to the Friars Club Monastery to be purchased and sent by members to the soldiers.

The Little Window was opened formally on Monday afternoon with a house warming. Miss Lucille Chalfont, came from New York to sing at the concert given by Al Jolson last Friday night at the Lake Nursery and Girls Club fund.

The Rev. Andrew Murch of Bryn Mawr, Pa., was elected president of the Stevenson Society of America at the annual meeting in Stevenson, Memorial Cottage last Saturday afternoon. The other officers are C. H. E. Griffith of Saranac Lake, vice-president; William Way, treasurer; Livingston Chapman, secretary; Mrs. J. H. Vincent, resident librarian; Dr. Lawrence Brown, D. H. M. Kinghorn, M. M. Faustmann and E. S. Baldwin, directors at large.

At the annual meeting of the Saranac Lake Golf Club governors of that organization were elected as follows: For one year, Walter H. Cluett, C. F. Robinson, A. W. Callahan, George L. Starks; for two years, Dr. Lawrence Brown, A. W. Stanley, Dr. F. S. Blanchet, Dr. J. A. Monroe; for three years, Dr. J. A. Farrell, E. F. Hewitt, J. J. O'Connell and E. R. Stonaker.

Polio Is in Full Swing.

Polio is now in full swing and the game attracts many spectators who give the sporting world a gay appearance. But the latest innovation in the way of sports in an outdoor gymnasium and camp for women only. A field near the golf club has been placed at the disposal of Lieut. Hebert, and judging from appearances he expects to inaugurate a regular army camp and train the women of fashion in military tactics. The Marquis de Polignac was originally interested in the project when it was opened at Rheims before the war, but at that time it was supposed to be something more than a home for fat women.

Under the present arrangement it is to be typical of Deauville, inasmuch as it will be one of the eccentric whims of fashion. Simple life will be the order of the day, which means bare heads, arms, feet and legs, so the dressmakers might take a hint that tunics only will be the fashion, or perhaps the only covering will be the tents in which the women are supposed to sleep. At all events men are strictly taboo and women are promised that they will grow thin. These seem to be the two most important features of the project.

American buyers who have been attending the fashion openings at Paris are dressing establishments for the last two weeks have swelled the number of week end visitors and are held partly responsible for the commercial spirit that is making itself felt in Deauville. Charles Kurzman is among those who motored from Paris to be here over the holidays and study the styles. Others are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brenner, Edward Mayer, Miss Tobie Collier, William Hardy, Harry Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Daxian, all of New York, and D. Price and Mr. Litt of Philadelphia.
